

FUTURE PERFECT

“Future Perfect is one of the most exquisite contemporary design galleries in the world, and to have it on Sacramento street is just fabulous. I often source for my clients at this gallery, and whether it’s rare art finds or standout lighting, Future Perfect is a designer’s dream.”

SEVENTEEN YEARS AGO, interior designer Kendall Wilkinson opened her eponymous studio on Sacramento Street in the idyllic Laurel Heights neighborhood of San Francisco. “I’ve seen the street go through an incredible transformation,” says Wilkinson who has outfitted residential projects throughout San Francisco, Napa Valley, and Mexico, and launched an indoor-outdoor fabric line for Fabricut last year. “It has always been a hub of antique stores and design shops, but now it’s got fabulous clothing stores, and with the opening of shops like de Gournay, St Frank, and Hudson Grace, Sacramento street has become a world-class design destination. As more luxury retailers move in, more designers want to be here. I love seeing the bustle of the street.”

Here, Wilkinson gives us her go-to guide to the tree-lined street—dotted with European-inspired cafés and restaurants, design ateliers, and clothing shops—that’s become a San Francisco fixture.

LIEBHERR

Quality, Design and Innovation

DE GOURNAY

“de Gournay makes the most elegant hand-painted and embroidered wall coverings. The brand specializes in reproductions of historic prints, particularly 18th-century chinoiserie and 19th-century French designs. They are now one block down the street from our studio!” 3681A Sacramento Street, 415.800.7978; www.degournay.com

SOCIALE

“There is just nothing more relaxing than sitting outside with a glass of wine at this neighborhood spot. It’s been on the street for years and truly is one of my favorites. It’s a home away from home and the perfect place to meet a client.” 3665 Sacramento Street, 415.921.3200; www.sfsociale.com

ST. FRANK

“This is a new store with a fresh aesthetic, and it represents the change happening on the street. With their truly gorgeous textiles and wallpaper, St Frank is a must for authentic home products that add character and a strong sense of style to any space.” 3665 Sacramento Street, 415.416.6918; www.stfrank.com

FOUND BY MAYA

“I source so many truly unique treasures from Maya Lithander Smith’s store. Whether it’s rugs, lightening, or accessories, I always find something special. This is world class shopping here, on par with New York and Paris.” 3484 Sacramento Street, 415.780.1082; www.foundbymaya.com

AS QUOTED

“I go here regularly and treat myself to the kale caesar with chicken salad. I love the design of this cozy, Parisian-inspired café. It’s also a great place to sit down with my laptop and get some work done.” 3613 Sacramento Street, 415.914.0689; www.eatasquoted.com

HUDSON GRACE

“If I need fabulous accessories for a home, or a last-minute gift, Hudson Grace never fails me. With their black quartz votives, their linens, and their collection of shelter books, you cannot go wrong.” 3350 Sacramento Street, 415.440.7400; www.hudsongracesf.com
